1. Next Regular Council Meetings – to be held in Council Chambers at 4:30 p.m.:

- Thursday, June 8th
- Thursday, June 22nd

2. Town Budget Meetings – The Town budget meetings are almost complete. We still have some items to discuss such as the economic development and library accounts. I would like to schedule the first public hearing on the budget for the Council meeting on Thursday, June 8th, and the second public hearing and budget adoption at the Council meeting on Thursday, June 22nd.

3. Library Awarded Grant – I meant to report on this at the last Council meeting. The Millinocket Memorial Library is one of five libraries across the country to receive funds to use TV WhiteSpace to expand broadband access in outdoor public spaces throughout Millinocket. The $15,000 grant will allow the library to deliver high-speed connection beyond the walls of the library. Mr. DeLaney would like to thank the Town for its support.

4. Town Fiber Upgrade – I signed the contract for the fiber upgrade for the Town. GWI is looking at a 4-6 week time frame to get the fiber installed. Julie Albert, formerly of Millinocket and Agent Channel Account Manager of GWI, will be the Town's contact person. I want to thank everyone involved for making this happen.

5. Cemetery – The cemetery opened on May 1st. The crew will be spraying for grubs again this year. The spraying should take place sometime in June.

Hi John,

As promised, here is the official press release announcing MML's recent grant award. With your support, the Millinocket Memorial Library is one of five libraries across the country to receive funds to use TV WhiteSpace to expand broadband access in outdoor public spaces throughout Millinocket.

In partnership with Maine State Library, the Gigabit Libraries Network, and San Jose State University's iSchool, the Millinocket Memorial Library will be participating in a pilot project to explore the role of libraries as leading community anchors promoting access and inclusion through strategic technology integration.

This $15,000 grant will allow us to deliver our highspeed broadband connection beyond the walls of our library. More details on our plan will be forthcoming but we wanted to thank you for your support.

Best,
Matt

WINNERS OF "BEYOND THE WALLS" AWARDS ANNOUNCED

Libraries in seven states to lead community TV WhiteSpace projects

San Francisco, CA, May 9, - The Gigabit Libraries Network (GLN), in partnership with San Jose State University's School of Information (iSchool), announced today that a total nine projects will receive funding and support to expand the Libraries WhiteSpace Project.

Sponsorship for the campaign originated through a grant from the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS): "Libraries Leading in Digital Inclusion and Disaster Response via TV WhiteSpace Wireless Connections." Five libraries in ME, GA, NE, SD and WA will receive awards under the IMLS grant.

These funds will underwrite the costs of equipment and installation for libraries who've initiated partnership projects with other community institutions to explore and develop innovative uses for TV WhiteSpace (TVWS) network technologies to support remote fixed and portable library access points at new locations in their communities starting this summer.

One winning proposal from Beatrice, Nebraska gained support from the state CIO, "The State Office of the CIO has already convened a multi-sector TV White Space exploratory meeting. I believe that the findings of the Beatrice Public Library project will inform and potentially accelerate the deployment of TV White Space across other sectors, including K-20 education, agricultural research, telehealth/public safety, and biological research."

Like WiFi, TVWS units use free open spectrum, requiring no third party carriers, ongoing fees, licenses or other permissions for use as wide area intra-facility networks. But unlike WiFi, TVWS has long range and penetrative capabilities that can support broadband connections over miles and around or through obstructions like trees and buildings.

"This may be the first time the economics of any infrastructure has favored rural areas because they typically have an abundance of valuable open public spectrum. The time has arrived for the country to finally take advantage of this powerful new communications resource, too long in the making," notes project Co-director, Don Means of the Gigabit Libraries Network.

Four additional projects will be funded with support from state, local and private sources. While the Beyond the Walls awards will support library led projects in almost every region of the country, Microsoft and the Library of Michigan have stepped up to provide additional support to enable three additional projects. Another library applicant from Pennsylvania has obtained local support, making nine total participating projects in seven states as of today's announcement.

"Microsoft is pleased to partner with the Gigabit Libraries Network and the Library of Michigan to empower libraries and other community institutions exploring the many applications for TV White Space connectivity in the state. We applaud the Institute of Museum and Library Services for its leadership in providing the core grant to enable the national Beyond the Walls initiative," says Paul Garnett, Microsoft's Director of Affordable Access Initiatives.

Details and objectives for each of the individual project plans are available on the Beyond the Walls page at GigLibraries.Net. Winning proposals have shown creativity in thinking of new ways and locations to install remote library WiFi access points. They also demonstrate an ability to collaborate with other community institutions like schools, health clinics, community centers, post offices, shelters, etc. An important secondary use for these TVWS enabled hotspots will be as redundant disaster communications resources, where the units can be installed for rapid redeployment to areas of need in times of crisis.

The Beyond the Walls initiative builds on the work of a grant in 2015 from the Knight Foundation to GLN in partnership with the Chief Officers of State Library Agencies (COSLA) to build preliminary analysis and orientation tools, including a 2 minute overview video, for libraries interested in exploring the capabilities of license-free TVWS equipment to inexpensively expand access to a range of institutional services.

"This initiative will further explore the role of libraries as leading community anchors promoting access and inclusion through strategic technology integration. There's a nice intersection between what we're implementing and the concept of community anchors, which has been used by IMLS to describe the role of libraries in providing civic engagement, cultural opportunities, and economic vitality to communities," says project Co-director Kristen Rebmann of SJSU.

Project outreach and proposals review are being supported by the Schools, Health and Libraries Broadband Coalition (SHLB), the National Digital Inclusion Alliance (NDIA) and the The Information Technology Disaster Resource Center (ITDRC).

Participating libraries: IMLS award winners: Millinocket Memorial Library, Millinocket, ME; Twin Lakes Library System, Milledgeville, GA; Beatrice Public Library, Beatrice, NE; Huron Public Library, Huron, SD; Yakama Nation Library, Toppenish, WA. Additional participating libraries: Capital Area District Libraries, Lansing, MI; Otsego County Library, Otsego, MI; Superiorland Library Cooperative, Marquette, MI; Schlow Centre Region Library, State College, PA.

Subject: 189 Pamola Park

John,
When following up on a recent trash complaint at the above address I became aware of the property being tax acquired. I also came to understand that no one had expressed interest in the property during the bid process which closed in April of 2017.

Given that I live just around the corner from the property I decided to look it over and found that it would take a substantial amount of work/investment to make the property suitable. With that being said, given the age of the mobile home and the number of repairs needed it is something, in my opinion, that would make more sense to demolish and replace with something newer - be it a mobile home and/or garage.

Over the weekend I followed up with Grant Boynton who performs demolition work to see what kind of costs would be associated with removal of the buildings. Grant quoted $5k for services and disposal of material. He ultimately agreed to perform the same for $3k and could begin cleanup the first week in July.

With the above costs needed to clean up the property, and the land being valued by the town at $4300 there's a $1300 dollar offset between cost & value. With that being said, if the town is interested in selling the property to me in the amount of $1,000. I would entertain the idea of purchasing the property and investing monies for lot beautification and ultimately placement of a building allowing the town to realize tax dollars.

I look forward to your reply.

Thanks.
